This course explores the emergence of a Christian devotion to holy women and men. Over the course the semester, we will learn how Christians transformed earlier cultural vocabularies and devotions associated with the dead, how they constructed distinct ideas of sainthood and martyrdom, and how they reproduced these ideas in texts, material objects, images, spaces, and communal rituals.