

Persian Studies at UNC-Chapel Hill Presents a Talk by Human Rights Activist, Amir Soltani

Religious Freedom and Hypocrisy in Iran: An Activist's Guide to Changing the World

OCTOBER 24, 2017 AT 6-7:30 PM

FEDEX GLOBAL EDUCATION CENTER, ROOM 1005
UNC-CHAPEL HIL

Amir Soltani is an Iranian-American writer, journalist and human rights activist who has worked in business, media, nonprofits and philanthropy.

What is religious persecution? What forms does a modern inquisition take? Who enforces it and how? What is the role of language? What does it mean to be changed as a heretic, to spread corruption on earth, or to wage war against God? How do you resist? These are some of the questions Amir Soltani will consider through prism of the struggle for religious freedom in Iran.

For questions contact Dr. Claudia Yaghoobi at yaghoobi@email.unc.edu.

Sponsors: UNC Persian Studies, Department of Asian Studies, Carolina Center for the Study of the Middle East and Muslim Civilizations, Duke-UNC Consortium for Middle East Studies, Center for Global Initiatives, Department of Religious Studies