

RELI/HIST 454

The Reformation

This seminar will examine the reformations of the sixteenth century, with particular attention to theology in its cultural context. Units address the reforms of Luther, Calvin, the Anglican church, the Anabaptists, and the Catholic Counter-Reformation.

While focusing on major authors, it includes attention to the influence of newspaper propaganda, anti-Judaism, women mystics, political agents, and global imperialism on the parameters of Christian reform in the early modern period.
